Bamboo Hermitage
The Editors

Dancing with the Trickster: Notes for a Transpersonal Autobiography
Stanley Krippner

The Essence of Transpersonal Psychology: Contemporary Views
S. I. Shapiro, Grace W. Lee, & Philippe L. Gross

Unattached Mind
Shoshin Ichishima

The Last Time I Saw Fritz
Marc L. Jostyn

Spring Essence: The Poetry of Hồ Xuân Hu’o’ng
John Balaban

Jean-Jacques Dicker: Photography First
Philippe L. Gross

Wu Wei in Chuang Tzu as Life-Systematic Kuang-ming Wu

Language as Aperture
Duane Preble

Quiet Mind
Atsumi Yamamoto

The Re-Cognition of Being’s Infrastructure as Self-Completion
Herbert Guenther

Arrest, Interrogation, Prison Life
V. V. Nalimov

The Universe Grasper
S. I. Shapiro

Endangered Asanas
Ralph Augsburger

The History of Sanity in Contemplative Psychotherapy
Edward M. Podwoll

Altered States of Consciousness and Psychotherapy: A Cross-Cultural Perspective
Mário Simões

Synchronicity, Mind, and Matter
Włodzisław Duch

Embodied Light
Chris McDonough

Transpersonal Psychology as a Scientific Field
Harris Friedman

LumiGnosis
Michael G. Mitchell

Dinomor: Evoking Memories of Dino’s Dreams and Death
Tönu R. Soidla

Woof! Woof!
Philippe L. Gross

About Our Contributors

118
125
135
145
153
169
175
188
195
203
211
This volume, our last, concludes five years of editing The International Journal of Transpersonal Studies. We have dedicated our tenure as editors to expanding the international breadth of the Journal and fashioning it into an evocative mixture of academic, literary, and artistic work. Now, the success of the Journal demands greater resources. Beginning in the year 2003, with Volume 22, IJTS will be sponsored by the Saybrook Graduate School and Research Center (San Francisco, California), and coedited by Harris Friedman and Douglas A. MacDonald. We extend deep appreciation and aloha to our Associate Editor Tõnu R. Soidla, the Editorial Board and staff, and authors for their invaluable contributions.

Writing is joy—
so saints and scholars all pursue it.
A writer makes new life in the void,
kneads on silence to make a sound,
binds space and time on a sheet of silk and pours out a river from an inch-sized heart.

—Lu Chi

Philippe L. Gross
S. I. Shapiro
Editors

Notes